

MARCO FERRARIS

BIOGRAPHY

Visual artist in the field of photography and film. His latest project: “La Isla Project” combines photography and video in an evolutionary co-creation, where the island is an archetypal site and a place where man is free to give life to new utopias of regeneration. Marco fuses his unique perception of light, natural elements such as water and earth, and others such as mirrors and smoke, thus playing with the perception of limits, projections, reflections and all the holistic implication that comes with exploring and expanding our experience and consciousness. Marco's way of working has led him to connect with nature, with a more organic and human way of living and perceiving life.
